

Ronald F. Stupi, Vice President of Business Development

Ronald F. Stupi is responsible for business development and strategic planning for QPM.

Prior to QPM, Stupi worked with Travel Centers of America, the country's largest full-service truck stop and travel center chain, where he served as the director of real estate and strategic planning. Under Stupi's leadership, Travel Centers of America grew from 75 sites to more than 130 sites, largely through the acquisition of one public and one private company.

Before his role with Travel Centers of America, Stupi held the position of director of real estate for the western region of Tosco, the largest independent refining and marketing company in the United States. He played a key role in the acquisition of Circle K and Unocal 76 and managed a real estate portfolio of 3,000 convenience stores west of the Mississippi. Stupi began his career at B.P. Oil in real estate acquisition and divestment in Ohio and other areas of the Midwest.

Stupi earned a bachelor's degree in business, with a minor in hazardous materials, from the University of Findlay in Ohio, and continually advances his profession through membership in a number of organizations including the International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC), CORNET Global and the American Society of Healthcare Engineering. He also contributes to various philanthropic causes, particularly those related to cancer research and patient support, and he and his family are very involved with the American Cancer Society.
